Why Participate In Clinical Research?
Clinical Trials are medical research studies in which patients may volunteer to participate. We are always seeking volunteers for our medical trials. Rest-assured that as a participant in our clinical trials, you will be playing a key roll in assisting us in acquiring knowledge about specific conditions and finding a treatment or cure.

DID YOU KNOW?

Many of you receiving this newsletter have been patients of Injury Care Research. But did you know that we opened a NEW clinic called Family Care Research? We are excited to announce our expansion that will allow us to conduct other research studies on indications other than just pain. Don't worry though - it's still the same wonderful study coordinators and physicians, so you'll still get the same great care when participating in any of our clinical research studies.
